

Brigadier General Franz NAGER

Commander of the Infantry Training Unit

Date of birth 23 August 1961
Academic qualifications MAS Crisis Management and Security Policy,
ETH Zurich
Service address Château, 2013 Colombier

Current function

Brigadier General Nager commands the Infantry Training Unit, and is responsible for its basic training. The Commander of the Infantry Training Unit is accountable to the Chief of Training and Education Command.

The Commander of the Infantry Training Unit is in charge of the infantry schools for recruits, NCOs and officers, the infantry stand-by battalion, and the armed forces mountain service and military bands centres of excellence. He assists superior authorities in planning, evaluating, procuring, fielding and liquidating equipment and systems.

Career

1988 Captain, commander of a rifle company
1995 Major General Staff, General Staff officer in field division
1999 Commander of a rifle battalion
2005 Lieutenant Colonel GS, deputy commander of an infantry brigade
2007 Colonel GS
2008 Staff officer assigned to the commander of an infantry brigade
Project manager for the merging of two infantry brigade staffs
2011 Staff officer assigned to the head of Armed Forces Joint Staff
2012 Brigadier General, commander of Mountain Infantry Brigade 12
2016 Commandant of the Infantry Training Unit

Functions

1989 Military academy
1990 Entry into instruction corps
1991 Instruction officer at mountain infantry schools
2001 Infantry Officer Advanced Course, Fort Benning, USA
2002 Team leader in leadership and general staff courses at Armed Forces Training Centre Lucerne, AAL
2004 Commander of the single term infantry school
2007 Commander of the Armed Forces Mountain Service Centre of Competence