

Brigadier General Marco SCHMIDLIN

Commandant Command Support Training Unit

Date of birth 8 March 1966
Academic title Lic.rer.pol University of Bern
Master of International Security Studies, Naval Postgraduate School Monterey, USA
Office address Überlandstrasse 255, 8600 Dübendorf

Current function

Brigadier General Schmidlin in charge of Command Support Training Unit and is responsible for armed forces training relating to command support, telematics and signals. He is accountable to the Chief of Training and Education Command.

Commandant Command Support Training Unit is in charge of all command support, signal and electronic operations schools.

Career

1995 Captain, anti-aircraft battery commander
2000 Major General Staff, operations chief in field division
2002 Lieutenant colonel General Staff, light air defence guided missile battalion commander
2005 Readiness chief of air defence training unit
2009 Colonel General Staff, assistant chief of staff strategic-operational staff of Armed Forces Command
2012 Operations chief in territorial region staff
2014 Officer assigned to commander in staff of Command Support Brigade 41
2015 Brigadier General, Commander Command Support Brigade 41
2018 Head of Armed Forces Planning and Deputy Head of Armed Forces Staff
2022 Commandant Command Support Training Unit

Functions

1996 Officer of instruction of an air defence school
2000 Member of Air Force XXI study project
2001 Head of air defence doctrine and training,
Project manager for establishing a 'foundations, planning, controlling' cell
2004 Chief of course management in headquarters for visual flight courses
2006 Deputy commander at headquarters for visual flight courses
2007 Commander for progressive training of senior cadre in air defence training unit
2009 Head of political and military strategy affairs for Armed Forces Command