

Major General Alain VUITEL

Chief of Staff Operational Studies and Training

Academic qualifications Lic. ec., University of Neuchâtel

Master of Arts – International studies, University of London / King's College (GBR)

Office address Papiermühlestrasse 20, 3003 Berne

Current function

Major General Vuitel is responsible for military strategic and operational training, and for the collective training of general officers. He also provides support for various federal and Swiss Security Network exercises. He reports to the Chief of the Armed Forces; he contributes to the development of military doctrine and scenarios on future threats, hazards and risks.

Career

- 1995 Major GS, chief of operations in an armoured brigade
- 1999 Lieutenant Colonel GS, commander of an armoured battalion
- 2002 Assistant chief of staff operations in an armoured brigade
- 2005 Colonel GS, chief of military doctrine armed forces staff section
- 2009 Head of the National Emergency Operations Centre, Federal Office for Civil Protection
- 2014 Brigadier General, Chief of Staff to the Chief of the Armed Forces / Chief of Military-Strategic Staff
- 2016 Chief of Military Intelligence Service
- 2020 Major General, Head of Armed Forces Command Support Organisation
- 2021 Project director, Armed Forces Cyber Command
- 2024 Chief of Staff Operational Studies and Training

Functions

- 1993 Deputy head of the General Staff Services Command and Operations Section, Military Operations
- 1996 Deputy head of the General Staff Services Operations Division and head of Command and Operations Section, Military Operations
- 1999 Scientific consultant to the Chief of General Staff, Staff of the Chief of General Staff
- 2002 Head of the Military Doctrine Division, Swiss Armed Forces Planning Staff
- 2008 Deputy Chief of Staff Multinational Brigade South, Kosovo Force – KFOR
- 2012 Chief of the Armed Forces' delegate for the Armed Forces Development Programme