

Brigadier General Stefan FLACHSMANN

Attorney General of the Armed Forces

Academic title Dr.iur., University of Zurich
Office address Maulbeerstrasse 9, 3003 Bern

Current function

Brigadier General Flachsmann is the Attorney General of the Swiss Armed Forces. He ensures that the military justice system fulfils its statutory obligations and that the basic conditions are in place for the high-quality administration of justice by the military tribunals.

The Attorney General supervises the administration of military justice while respecting the independence of the military tribunals. He ensures that military criminal proceedings are conducted properly and in accordance with the law. He advises and supports the employees of the military justice system and ensures that they receive the required specialist training.

Career

1996	Captain, examining magistrate
2000	Training officer in the Attorney General's Staff
2001	Major, auditor attorney in the Attorney General's Staff
2004-2015	Chief Training officer in the Attorney General's Staff
2005	Lieutenant colonel, president in the Attorney General's Staff
2008	Colonel
2016	Brigadier General, Attorney General of the Armed Forces

Functions

1995-1997	Lawyer for a major Swiss insurance company
1997-2015	Self-employed lawyer
Since 1996	Lecturer in criminal law, specialising in the military criminal law and military procedural law at the University of Zurich
1998-2015	Lecturer on the military disciplinary code at the Military Academy at the ETH in Zurich and the Armed Forces Professional NCO School