

Lieutenant General Gregor METZLER

Chief of Training and Education Command

Academic title Degree in civil engineering (Dipl. HTL)
MAS SPCM ETHZ

Service address Papiermühlestrasse 14, 3003 Bern

Current function

Lieutenant General Metzler heads the Training and Education Command. He is responsible for the basic readiness and training of the armed forces. As a member of Armed Forces Command, he is directly accountable to the Chief of the Armed Forces.

As Chief of Training and Education Command, he also has overall responsibility for the Armed Forces College, the infantry, armour/artillery, engineer/rescue and NBC, command support and logistics training units, the Armed Forces Personnel, the Armed Forces Training Centre Command and the Women in the Armed Forces and Diversity Office.

Career

1997 Captain, commander of an armoured grenadier company

2000 Major GS, general staff officer of a field division

2001 Chief of operations of a field division

2004 Lieutenant Colonel GS, commander of an armoured grenadier battalion

2009 Chief of operations of an armoured brigade

2010 Colonel GS, armour and artillery training unit staff

2018 Brigadier General, Commander Armour and Artillery Training Unit

2022 Commander of a mechanised brigade

2023 Commandant General Staff School

2026 Chief of Training and Education Command

Functions

1998 Company instructor at the armoured grenadier recruit schools

2000 Staff member of the Armed Forces XXI project, mechanised and light units department

2002 Staff officer assigned to the staff of the chief of land forces training / armoured training unit

2003 Armor Captain Career Course, Fort Knox (USA)

2004 Team leader at the Commander and Staff Officer School

2008 Team leader at the General Staff School

2009 Commander of the armoured schools

2013 Chief of Staff of the Armed Forces College

2015 Assistant Commander of the Commander and Staff Officer School,
Commander of Leadership Course II / Staff Course I